BULLETIN NO. 105

TO ALL BEER AND/OR WINE WHOLESALERS:

You are reminded that Regulations (49) and (81), as recently amended by the Liquor Control Board, will become effective on Monday, February 14, 1972.

The amendments to these regulations provide specific conditions under which a retail licensee may obtain an identification card entitling him to take platform deliveries of beer and/or wine at the premises of his designated wholesalers.

Such identification card will be issued only to the retailer who files application on the form prescribed and furnished by the Board and pays the required fee of $5.00, in accordance with provisions of the above regulations. An application form will be supplied to the retailer upon his request.

Every wholesaler whose business name is listed on a retailer's identification card will receive a duplicate copy of that card. The name of each person authorized to take such platform deliveries for the retail licensee will also be specified on the front of the card, as will the class(es) of license held by the retailer, and the expiration date of the card.

In keeping records of platform delivery sales, the wholesaler should specifically note on applicable sales slips and bookkeeping entries that the transaction constituted a platform delivery.

Other instructions concerning the proper use of identification cards will be printed on the reverse side of each card. It is emphasized that platform delivery sales may be made by a wholesaler only in accordance with these procedures.

In order that all wholesalers will have an opportunity to preview the format of the new identification card and study the instructions thereon prior to the effective date of the amended regulations (February 14, 1972), we are attaching herewith a mimeographed copy of the new identification card which will be issued to retail licensees who request platform delivery privileges.
